Mensaje :Dear NEMOs, The introduction of a second day-ahead auction in our market holds significant merit for participants, providing a crucial opportunity for error correction and strategic refinement. In a dynamic marketplace, unforeseen circumstances and last-minute adjustments are inevitable. A second auction serves as a valuable safety net, allowing participants to rectify any inaccuracies or refine their orders to better align with evolving market conditions. We see this additional layer of flexibility as very useful. Instead of removing it, we encourage you to review the full decoupling deadline to avoid such a scenario. Kind regards, Aivaras Slivikas
