Public consultation pursuant to Art. 12 of Commission Regulation (EU) 1222/2015 on products that can be taken into account in the SIDC

NEMOs published the above-mentioned consultation on the NEMO Committee website on 3rd January 2022. The consultation period ended on 12th February 2022.

The consultation received seven (7) responses from Stakeholders. NEMOs want to thank the stakeholders for having taken the time to review and respond to the consultation. There are several important issues highlighted in the responses. NEMOs have found the input very useful. The list of respondents and their submissions are summarised in the enclosed document. The responses were reviewed by all NEMOs and comments to these are included in the summary.

However, regarding the SIDC Products methodology itself, NEMOs found that none of the issues brought forward in the responses support a need to amend the proposed/existing SIDC Products methodology. Therefore, after careful consideration of all proposals, NEMOs will proceed and submit to ACER, for its approval, the existing SIDC products methodology with no proposed amendments.

The input received from Stakeholders will however not be discarded, it will inform future discussions by the Consultative Group. Similarly, NEMOs will share the outcomes of the consultation with the Pentalateral Coordination Group members.

The document with the summary of responses and NEMO comments is available on the NEMOs website. It will be sent together with the final proposal of the methodology to ACER for approval.
